We all have bad hair days, but recently my barnet has been in the running for an Asbo. I know it's partly my fault; I should take it in hand (my haircare routine is minimal). It's been so wilfully mischievous that I was considering cutting it off (yeah, that'll teach it). But then I had a little revelation...

I had an invitation to the Fish salon in Soho - known for its no-nonsense, non-poncey approach to hairdressing, and a bit of a model hangout too - for a wash and blowdry on a Friday evening. What better way to start the weekend? I was there. The occasion was the launch of Angel Fish, hair products for women to sit alongside Fish men's products. You can buy them at Boots.
